Introduction

‘European Civil War’: Ernst Nolte, Der europäische Bürgerkrieg, 1917–1945, Frankfurt am Main, 1988

p.4 Bismarck on German moral cowardice: Sebastian Haffner, Defying Hitler, London, 2002, p. 72 p.5 ‘The Jews must get out’: TBJG, part I, vol. iii, p. 351. The best analysis of research into the origins of the Holocaust and the historical disputes engendered can be found in Ian Kershaw’s The Nazi Dictatorship: Problems and Perspectives of Interpretation, London, 2000, pp. 93–133, and Kershaw, Hitler, the Germans and the Final Solution, New Haven, 2008

p.6 ‘People of the same blood’: Adolf Hitler, Mein Kampf, Mumbai, 1988, p. 1

p.10 ‘violent energy’ and plate glass: ibid., p. 274

‘I am now fifty’: ibid., p. 19

1: The Outbreak of War

p.17 Zhukov’s deception: Chaney, Zhukov, pp. 69–70
For detailed accounts of the battle see Edward J. Drea, Nomonhan: Japanese–Soviet Tactical Combat, 1939, Fort Leavenworth, 1981; Coox, Nomonhan: Japan against Russia; and Georgii Zhukov, Marshal Zhukov: Kakim my ego pomnim, Moscow, 1988

p.18 ‘because of our indecisiveness’: quoted Chaney, Zhukov, p. 73

p.19 ‘Jewish democracy’: GSWW, vol. i, p. 685

‘There is no problem’: Raymond James Sontag and James Stuart Beddie (eds), Nazi–Soviet Relations, 1939–1941, New York, 1948, p. 38

p.23 ‘very self-confident’: JJG, 17.8.39

‘Germans in cafes’: JJJ, 21.8.39

‘the first impression in Berlin’: FRNH, p. 9

p.24 ‘the corporal’: ibid., p. 10

‘We had moved all’: JJJ, 25.8.39

p.26 ‘produced a lengthy document’: FRNH, p. 17

‘Grandmother dead!’: Overy, 1939, p. 68

2: ‘The Wholesale Destruction of Poland’

p.27 ‘The wholesale destruction of Poland’: Hitler, 22.8.39, DGFP, Series D, vol. vii, no. 193

Arrests in Danzig: Overy, 1939, pp. 69–70

Danzig Anatomical Medical Institute and Stutthof: GARF 9401/2/96 and RGVA 32904/1/19

German army three million men: GSWW, vol. ii, p. 90

francs-tireurs and sabotage: BA-MA RH37/1381; RH26-208/5, quoted Böhler, Auftakt zum Vernichtungskrieg, p. 40

‘friendly to the Bolsheviks’: NA II RG 242, T-79, R.131, 595

‘swift and ruthless’: GSWW, vol. ii, p. 82

Loss of Athenia: Overy, 1939, pp. 107–8

Killing of 1,000 Germans in Bydgoszcz: GSWW, vol. ii, p. 138

300 dead after an uprising: Richard J. Evans, The Third Reich at War: How the Nazis Led Germany from Conquest to Disaster, London, 2008, p. 8 p.36 ‘appallingly dirty and very backward’: letter 17.9.39, BfZ-SS 28774, quoted Böhler, Auftakt zum Vernichtungskrieg, p. 43; see also BA-MA RH37/5024; RH33-18/152; RH37/5024

‘ingratiatingly friendly’: BA-MA RH41/1012 (‘katzenfreundlich’)

‘respectfully took off their hats’: BA-MA RH37/6891, p. 11 (‘zogen respektvoll den Hut’)

Stürmer: BA-MA RH28-1/255

‘Every person’: BA-MA RH13-18/17

p.37 16,000 civilians executed: Böhler, Auftakt zum Vernichtungskrieg, pp. 241-2

65,000 killed, and massacres near Mniszek and Karlshof: Evans, The Third Reich at War, pp. 14–15

p.38 Kartoffelkrieg: TBJG, part I, vol. vii, p. 92

p. 44 ‘from bitterness over atrocities’: GSWW, vol. ix/1, p. 811

‘We have seen’: 12.10.39, BA-MA RH41/1177, quoted Böhler, Auftakt zum Vernichtungskrieg, p. 7

‘you can’t run a war’: GSWW, vol. ix/1, p. 811

p. 45 ‘a clear-out’: Halder, Kriegstagebuch, vol. i, p. 79, quoted Evans, The Third Reich at War, p. 16

‘Once a Pole, always a kulak’: quoted Snyder, Bloodlands, p. 86

3: From Phoney War to Blitzkrieg

p. 49 ‘a strange, somnambulistic quality’: Panter-Downes, London War Notes, p. 21

HMS Triton: SWWEC, Everyone’s War, no. 20, Winter 2009, p. 60

p. 50 ‘the spirit of Zossen’: quoted Tooze, The Wages of Destruction, p. 330

p. 54 ‘For four miles’: Virginia Cowles, Sunday Times, 4.2.40

‘How strange were these’: Geoffrey Cox, Countdown to War: A Personal Memoir of Europe, 1938–1940, London, 1988, pp. 176–7

p. 55 ‘summed up in a calm British’: Panter-Downes, London War Notes, p. 25

Deportations of Poles and Polish Jews in 1940: Snyder, Bloodlands, pp. 140–1 p.60 Tukhachevsky on the French army: Pravda, 29.3.35
‘to be inert’: quoted Quétel, L’Impardonnable Défaite, p. 253
Bonnet’s nephew: Cox, Countdown to War, p. 142
‘a woman whose’: ibid., p. 138

4: The Dragon and the Rising Sun

p.63 ‘Sympathy with the people’: Agnes Smedley, China Fights Back, London, 1938, p. 30; ‘peasant serfs’: ibid., p. 28 ‘Give! Give!’: Smedley, China Fights Back, p. 32
p.68 ‘Suddenly, the war’: Smedley, China Fights Back, p. 132

16th Division: ibid., p. 179

‘besides mass executions’: Dr Rosen to German Foreign Ministry, 20.1.38, quoted John Rabe, The Good German of Nanking: The Diaries of John Rabe, New York, 1998, p. 145. The diary of Rabe, the local director of Siemens and the organizer of the international safety zone, provides the most reliable account of the atrocities committed in Nanking

‘My emotion must have been paralyzed’: Shimada Toshio, quoted Kawano, ‘Japanese Combat Morale’, in Peattie, Drea and van de Ven, The Battle for China, p. 144

‘for the use of’: Smedley, China Fights Back, pp. 227 and 230

2,000 women taken from Soochow: Lary, The Chinese People at War, p. 25

p.75 ‘a building in which’: Smedley, Battle Hymn of China, p. 206

p.77 ‘use water as a substitute’: quoted Lary, The Chinese People at War, p. 61

p.79 Central Committee Plenum, September–October 1938: see Chang and Halliday, Mao, pp. 260–4

‘They roped them together’: Smedley, China Fights Back, p. 156

p.80 ‘We seized the village’: diary taken by New Fourth Army, quoted Smedley, Battle Hymn of China, pp. 185–6 p.83 ‘the criminal traitor’: van de Ven, War and Nationalism in China, p. 237

5: Norway and Denmark

p.84 The munitions crisis: see Tooze, The Wages of Destruction, pp. 328–57

‘without regard to the future’: Göring to Generalmajor Thomas, 30.1.40, quoted ibid., p. 357

p.87 Luftwaffe sinking two German destroyers: GSWW, vol. ii, pp. 170–1

p.90 ‘peaceful occupation’: ibid., p. 212

p.92 Hitler and Manstein: see Karl-Heinz Frieser, The Blitzkrieg Legend: The 1940 Campaign in the West, Annapolis, Md, pp. 79–81

p.93 ‘the nerveless philosopher’: Horne, To Lose a Battle, p. 155

p.94 ‘greatest victory’: GSWW, vol. ii, p. 280

6: Onslaught in the West

p.95 Belgian soldiers planting pansies: Cox, Countdown to War, pp. 194–5

Paris in early May: see Horne, To Lose a Battle, pp. 171–2 p.98 Deuxième Bureau and ‘principal axis’: Horne, To Lose a Battle, p. 169 Huntziger: see ibid., p. 165; and for Corap, see Julian Jackson, The Fall of France: The Nazi Invasion of 1940, Oxford, 2003, p. 35

p.101 Germans breaking French codes: Friese, The Blitzkrieg Legend, p. 87

p.102 ‘the French insouciance’: Zamoyski, The Forgotten Few, p. 51

p.103 ‘permit to enter Belgium’: Robin McNish, Iron Division: The History of the 3rd Division, London, 2000, p. 77

‘The Belgians stood cheering’: Cox, Countdown to War, p. 203

p.106 ‘They walked, they rode’: ibid., p. 213
‘Despair in Berlin’: quoted Horne, To Lose a Battle, p. 209

‘The atmosphere was that of a family’: André Beaufre, The Fall of France, London, 1967, p. 183

‘Marching, marching’: Riedel, 20.5.40, BfZ-SS
German shortage of munitions and need for more time: Friese, The Blitzkrieg Legend, pp. 21–3 p.114 ‘little hysterical’: quoted Horne, To Lose a Battle, p. 331

‘As you are no doubt aware’: TNA PREM 3/468/201

p.116 ‘If members of the present’: ibid.

p.118 ‘They are the most pathetic sight’: Field Marshal Lord Alanbrooke, War Diaries, 1939–1943, London, 2001, p. 67

7: The Fall of France

p.120 Kleist and Guderian at Saint-Quentin: GSWW, vol. ii, p. 287
p.121 ‘Colonel Motors’: Margerie, Journal, p. 12 p.122 André Maurois: Margerie, Journal, p. 201
p.127 ‘By the roads, shattered’: Gefr. Ludwig D., Rgts.Stab/Art.Rgt.69, Tuesday, 21.5.40, BfZ-SS
‘There are many, many’: Gefr. Konrad F., 5.Kp./Inf.Rgt.43, 1.Inf. Div., Wednesday, 22.5.40, BfZ-SS
p.128 ‘for [the] sake of Allied solidarity’: TNA WO 106/1693 and 1750, quoted Sebag-Montefiore, Dunkirk, p. 228
‘only a miracle can save France’: Paul Addison and Jeremy Crang (eds), Listening to Britain, London, 2010, 22.5.40, p. 19
‘The whiter the collar, the less the assurance’: ibid., p. 39
p.129 ‘evidence before us’: ibid., p. 31
‘Nothing but a miracle’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, p. 67
Panzer Corps Kleist losses: BA-MA, W 6965a and Wi/1F5.366, quoted GSWW, vol. ii, p. 290
Lack of German motor transport: Frieser, The Blitzkrieg Legend, p. 29 p.130 ‘predominant consideration’: TNA WO 106/1750, quoted Sebag-Montefiore, Dunkirk, p. 250
p.131 ‘This time I’ll declare war’: quoted GSWW, vol. iii, p. 62
Bismarck’s comment on Italy: quoted John Lukacs, Five Days in London: May 1940, New Haven, 1999
‘thunderclaps mingled’: Riedel, 26.5.40, BfZ-SS
‘British Strategy in a Certain Eventuality’: TNA CAB 66–7 p.132 ‘in order to reduce proportionately’: Margerie, Journal, p. 239
‘We must not get entangled’: TNA CAB 65/13
‘fall back upon the coast’: TNA WO 106/1750
p.133 1st Armoured Division: see Sebag-Montefiore, Dunkirk, pp. 272–3 p.134 ‘Even if we were beaten’: TNA CAB 65/13/161, quoted Gilbert, Finest Hour, p. 412
‘Finally, we have a scapegoat’: Leca quoted Margerie, Journal, p. 253
p.135 ‘We should find that all’: TNA CAB 65/13 ‘slave state’: ibid.
p.136 ‘like a flock of huge infernal seagulls’: Lieutenant P. D. Elliman, 1st HAA Regiment, quoted Sebag-Montefiore, Dunkirk, p. 387
p.137 British and French tensions at Dunkirk: see ibid., pp. 404–11 p.138 Allied troops taken off from Dunkirk port and beaches: GSWW, vol. ii, pp. 293 and 295; Sebag-Montefiore, Dunkirk, pp. 540–1, 628–9 p.139 ‘the Sikorski tourists’: SHD-DAT 1 K 543 ‘almost too good’, and rumours: Addison and Crang, Listening to Britain, pp. 71, 53
p.141 French and Italian losses in the Alps: GSWW, vol. iii, p. 247
‘puffy with fatigue’: Cox, Countdown to War, p. 236
‘That would be the destruction of the country!’: quoted Quéétel, L’Impardonnable Défaite, p. 330
‘This country had been rotted’: Spears, Assignment to Catastrophe, vol. ii, p. 171
p.144 Weygand’s regret: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, p. 80
‘it was impossible’: ibid., p. 81
‘We were the first to enter’: Sold. Paul Lehmann, Inf.Div.62, 28.6.40, BfZ-SS
p.146 Evacuation and sinking of Lancastria: Sebag-Montefiore, Dunkirk, pp. 486–95 8: Operation Sealion and the Battle of Britain

p.148 ‘The disgrace is now’: TBJG, part I, vol. viii, p. 186
p.149 ‘for continuing the war against Britain’: BA-MA RM 7/235, quoted GSWW, vol. iii, p. 131
‘If Great Britain is not forced’: quoted Quétel, L’Impardonnable Défaite, p. 384
p.150 ‘You are charged with one’: quoted Colin Smith, England’s Last War against France, London, 2009, p. 62
‘the orders of His Majesty’s Government’: TNA ADM 399/192
p.151 ‘tantamount to a declaration of war’: TNA ADM 199/391
p.153 ‘cheering thousands who shouted’: New York Times, 7 July 1940 p.157 For Polish airmen in Britain, see Zamoyski, The Forgotten Few p.159 ‘the first soldier of the Reich’: BA-MA RH 191/50, quoted GSWW, vol. ix/1, p. 529
‘child’s play’: Albert Speer, Erinnerungen, Frankfurt am Main, 1969, p. 188, quoted Kershaw, Hitler, 1936–1945: Nemesis, p. 305
‘dear fighter boys’: Patrick Bishop, Fighter Boys, London, 2003, p. 239
p.163  ‘People with pitchforks’: quoted Zamoyski, The Forgotten Few, p. 84
   ‘a savage, primitive exaltation’: quoted Bishop, Fighter Boys, p. 204
   Polish pilots and baled-out Germans: Zamoyski, The Forgotten Few, p. 71

p.167  Losses August and September: GSWW, vol. ii, p. 388; October losses: ibid., p. 403

   ‘Worse than the tedium’: Peter Quennell, The Wanton Chase, London, 1980, p. 15

9: Reverberations

   ‘What about the wounded’: Smedley, Battle Hymn of China, pp. 343–4 p.171  ‘China, they said, couldn’t fight’: ibid., p. 348

   ‘Hundred Regiments’ campaign: Garver, Chinese–Soviet Relations, pp. 140–1 ‘parallel war’: GSWW, vol. iii, p. 2

p.173  Italian armed forces in 1940: ibid., p. 68

p.174  ‘as a circus clown’: Weizsäcker, Die Weizsäcker-Papiere, p. 206

   ‘alianza espiritual’: Tusell, Franco, España y la II Guerra Mundial, p. 159

p.176  ‘The Führer sees the value’: KTB OKW, vol. i, 15.11.40, p. 177
   ‘like a Jew’: ibid., p. 144 (‘como un judío que quiere traficar con las más sagradas posesiones’)
‘Jesuit swine’: Halder, Kriegstagebuch, vol. i, p. 670

p.177 ‘territorially and materially’: GSWW, vol. iii, p. 194

p.178 ‘accept everything for the time being’: The Times, 2.7.40

p.179 ‘Hitler keeps confronting me’: ibid., 12.10.40, p. 297

p.182 Italian casualties in Greece and Albania: GSWW, vol. iii, p. 448

10: Hitler’s Balkan War

p.188 ‘clearly understood’: KTB OKW, vol. i, 10.12.40, p. 222

p.192 ‘gasping for revenge’: Schmidt, Hitler’s Interpreter, p. 223

Civilian casualties in Belgrade: GSWW, vol. iii, p. 498

‘At the command post’: Richthofen KTB, 6.4.41, BA-MA N671/2/7/9, p. 53

p.194 ‘That’s war!’: Richthofen KTB, 10.4.41, BA-MA N671/2/7/9, p. 59

‘astonishing news’: Richthofen KTB, 9.4.41, BA-MA N671/2/7/9, p. 58

‘Near Vevi’: OL 2042, TNA DEFE 3/891

p.196 ‘by moonlight’: Beevor, Crete, p. 38
2 million drachmas and starvation: Mazower, Inside Hitler's Greece, p. xiii

p.197 'Dünkirchen-Wunder': Richthofen KTB, 10.4.41, BA-MA N671/2/7/9, p. 60

‘If I saw the enemy’: quoted GSWW, vol. ix/1, p. 536

‘s0 that our children’: Hauptmann Friedrich M., 73.Inf.Div., BfZ-SS 20 305

p.200 ‘air landing of’: OL 2167, TNA DEFE 3/891

‘five to six thousand airborne’: TNA PREM 3/109

‘It ought to be a fine’: quoted Churchill, The Second World War, vol. iii, p. 241

p.206 ‘We do not reinforce failure’: Brigadier Ray Sandover, conversation with the author, 12.10.90

p.207 ‘seaborne attack’: New Zealand Division war diary, quoted Stewart, The Struggle for Crete, p. 278

p.209 ‘Enemy still shooting’: Richthofen KTB, 28.5.41, BA-MA N671/2/7/9, p. 115

German losses: BA-MA ZA 3/19 and RL2 III/95

II: Africa and the Atlantic

p.210 Hitler’s dislike of Generalleutnant von Funck: Gen der Artillerie Walter Warlimont, ETHINT 1 p.212 ‘Arabo Morte’ etc.: Kitchen, Rommel’s Desert War, p. 17

p.213 ‘All day long he races’: Halder, Kriegstagebuch, vol. ii, 23.4.41, p. 381, quoted ibid., p. 100

‘perhaps the only man’: Halder, Kriegstagebuch, vol. ii, 23.4.41, p. 385

p.214 ‘the crux of the problem’: ibid., p. 412

p.215 ‘The war is becoming ever’: Richthofen KTB, 19.5.41, BA-MA N671/2/7/9, p. 100

‘the most unsordid’: ibid., p. 503

p.219 American conditions for Lend–Lease: Hastings, Finest Years, pp. 171–4

German reaction to Lend–Lease: DGFP, Series D, vol. xii, no. 146, 10.3.41, pp. 258–9

Admiral Scheer: ibid., p. 353

12: Barbarossa

p.224 Chiang Kai-shek and Stalin: Garver, Chinese–Soviet Relations, pp. 112–18

Foreign Minister Matsuoka drunk on departure: Valentin M. Berezhkov, At Stalin’s Side, New York, 1994, p. 205

‘We must always stay’: Krebs letter of 15.4.41, BA-MA MSg1/1207

Secret History of the German Invasion of Russia, June 1941, London, 2005, pp. 75–84; Bianka Pietrow-Ennker (ed.), Präventivkrieg: Der deutsche Angriff auf die Sowjetunion, Frankfurt am Main, 2000; and for the conspiracy theorists, Viktor Suvorov, Icebreaker: Who Started the Second World War?, London, 1990; Heinz Magenheimer, Hitler’s War, London, 2002, pp. 51–64. The whole debate was examined by the Russian Association of the Second World War Historians on 28.12.97. (Information Bulletin, No.4, 1998) and they rightly concluded that the Red Army was simply in no condition to launch an offensive. I am grateful to their president, Professor O.A. Rzheshevsky, for sending me the verbatim report.

p.227 ‘Disinformation has now reached ambassadorial level!’: Pravda, 22.6.89

p.228 Deportations from Baltic states: Christopher Andrew and Oleg Gordievsky, KGB: The Inside Story of its Foreign Operations from Lenin to Gorbachev, London, 1990, p. 203
‘This is a war of extermination’: Halder, Kriegstagebuch, vol. ii, pp. 316–7
‘Dortmund’, ‘Thus the start’: KTB OKW, vol. i, p. 417
‘My conviction is’: Fw. Herbert E., 2.Kp./Nachr.Abt.SS, SS-Reich, BfZ-SS

p.229 ‘thirty-nine aircraft incursions’: Maslennikov, RGVA 38652/1/58

p.230 ‘In the course of the morning’: KTB OKW, vol. i, p. 417

p.231 ‘Of course I’ll be there’: Schmidt, Hitler’s Interpreter, p. 233
‘For the first time in years’: quoted Richard Lourie, Sakharov: A Biography, Hanover, NH, 2002, p. 52

p.232 ‘Finally, after a successful attack’: RGALI 1710/3/43
‘The Russian is a’: Sold. Rudolf B., Stab/Nachsch.Btl.553, 27.7.41, BfZ-SS
‘Lenin founded our state’: quoted Richard Overy, Russia’s War, London, 1999, p. 78
p.236 ‘The whole field’: Aleksandr Tvardovsky, Dnevlniki i pisma, 1941–1945, Moscow, 2005, p. 32
p.237 ‘After Minsk began to burn’: Vasily Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/3/43
p.239 ‘inadequate on the eve of war’: TsAMO 35/107559/5 p. 364 ‘only 3,800 were ready to fight’: ibid.
‘probably no overstatement’: Halder, Kriegstagebuch, vol. iii: Der Russlandfeldzug bis zum Marsch auf Stalingrad, p. 38
p.241 ‘There were about nine hundred’: Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/3/43
p.242 ‘At the outset of the war’: Halder, Kriegstagebuch, vol. iii, p. 506
p.243 ‘Whether they are riding somewhere’, ‘the much-battered enemy continued his cowardly advance’: RGALI 1710/3/43
‘At night, the sky’: Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/3/49
p.245 Refugees described by Vasily Chekrizov: Reid, Leningrad, p. 116 ‘Doesn’t it seem to you’: RGASPI 558/11/492, p. 27, quoted ibid., p. 106
p.246 ‘Make it clear to all troops’: RGASPI 83/1/18, p. 18
‘A German aircraft appeared’: VCD, 21.8.41
‘My answer is’: 20.9.41, RGALI 1817/2/185
‘Columns of thick smoke’: VCD, 4.9.41

13: Rassenkrieg
Ukraine famine: see Snyder, Bloodlands, p. 53
p.251 ‘Everyone admires’: Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/3/49

p. 252

p. 253

‘time of iron’: Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/3/43

p. 254

‘This will happen best’: quoted ibid., p. 266

p. 255

For the SS Einsatzgruppen, see ibid., pp. 224–43

‘self-cleansing efforts’, or Selbstreinigungsbestrebungen: ibid., p. 228

p. 256

‘Jews in party and state’: ibid., p. 219

p. 257

‘A pilot from the third air squadron’: TsA FSB 14/4/326, pp. 264–7

‘A girl – a Jewish beauty’: Ida S. Belozovskaya, GARF 8114/1/965, pp. 68–75

p. 258

‘In my opinion’: TNA WO 208/4363

‘They’re willing and comradely’: Gefr. Ludwig B., Nachsch. Btl. 563, 27.7.42, BfZ SS 28743 ‘the soldiers were shouting’: Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/1/123

p. 259

‘People with fawning’: Ida S. Belozovskaya, GARF 8114/1/965, pp. 68–75

p. 260

‘On 28 September’: Ida S. Belozovskaya, GARF 8114/1/965, pp. 68–75 p.261 'deformed newborns': Henry Friedlander, The Origins of Nazi Genocide: From Euthanasia to the Final Solution, Chapel Hill, 1995, p. 43. Friedlander is the main source for the section on the euthanasia programme

p.262 'Look at the eyes': quoted Hilberg, The Destruction of the European Jews, p. 137

1.4: The ‘Grand Alliance’

p.264 'I will unsay no word', 'if Hitler invaded Hell': Winant and Churchill’s speech of 22.6.41, Valentin M. Berezhkov, History in the Making, Moscow, 1983, p. 123

p.265 'it would be fatal': TNA HW 1/6, C/6863, quoted David Stafford, Roosevelt and Churchill, London, 2000, p. 65

p.266 'a gift for treating': Kenneth S. Davis, FDR: The War President, New York, 2000, p. 212

p.267 'for much longer than': Berezhkov, History in the Making, p. 126

p.268 'The country that could produce': quoted ibid., p. 141

p.269 From 27 January to 20 August, fifty-two Axis ships sunk and thirty-eight damaged: GSWW, vol. iii, p. 712

p.271 'One has to treat the Italians': Leutnant André F., 15.P.Div., 28.5.41, BfZ-SS 37 007

p.273 'the Führer is prepared practically': BA-MA RM 7/29

15: The Battle for Moscow

p.275 'on the roof watching': quoted Lourie, Sakharov, p. 53

p.276 'Most of the militia': Yuri Vladimirov, Voina soldata-zenitchika, 1941–1942, Moscow, 2009, p. 118

p.277 'I thought I'd seen retreat': Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/3/49

p.280 ‘The Russians are beasts’: Maj. Hans Sch., Stab/Pi.Btl.652, BfZ-SS S 3691 ‘Lots of mad rumours’: ibid.
p.281 ‘I don’t think anyone’: Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/3/49 ‘Tolstoy’s grave’: ibid.
Execution of gang boss: Vladimir Voitsekhovich in Drabkin (ed.), Svyashchennaya voina, p. 15 p.285 ‘Bosses from many factories’: Yefim Abelevich Golbraikh in Drabkin (ed.), Svyashchennaya voina, p. 79
‘surrounded by mobs’: quoted Lowrie, Sakharov, p. 55
‘human whirlpools’: ibid.
‘What went on at Kazan’: Ehrenburg, Men, Years – Life, vol. v, p. 17
‘I have looked through the files’: ibid., p. 15 p.287 ‘destroy and burn to ashes’: quoted Volkogonov, Stalin: Triumph and Tragedy, p. 456 ‘Stations were covered’: Vladimirov, Voina soldata-zenitchika, p. 119
SS motorcyclist: Bellamy, Absolute War, p. 317
‘destroyer battalions’: Vladimir Viktorovich Voitsekhovich in Drabkin (ed.), Svyashchennaya voina, 2010
p.288 ‘the good old war-horse’: Richthofen KTB, 10.4.41, BA-MA N 671/2/7/9, p. 59
‘Our situation with food’: VCD, 28.10.41
‘Our corporal Andronov’: ibid., 20.11.41
‘I saw a Polutorka’: ibid., 8.12.41
‘all along the bank’: ibid., 8–9.12.41
p.294 ‘I don’t know what’s wrong’: Obgefr. Herbert B., Nachschubkp. 31, 6.12.41, BfZ-SS
‘Are we going to have to pull out?’: Oberschütze Helmut G., 8.12.41, BfZ-SS
‘The frosts were exceptionally severe’: Ehrenburg, Men, Years – Life, vol. v, p. 35 p.295 ‘Many of the wounded’: Oberschütze Helmut G., BfZ-SS, N:Gil ‘There’s an enormous number’: Oberschütze Helmut G., BfZ-SS

p.296 ‘the Americans in the Grand Hotel’: Ehrenburg, Men, Years – Life, vol. v, p. 18

16: Pearl Harbor

Roosevelt’s decision on atomic weapons research: Kershaw, Fateful Choices, p. 7 p.298 ‘national hara-kiri’: Joseph C. Grew, Ten Years in Japan, New York, 1944, p. 468, quoted ibid., p. 366
p.300 ‘Do you mean to say’: Zich, The Rising Sun, p. 51
p.303 MacArthur’s command in the Philippines: Philippine Islands, USCMH, Washington, DC, 1992, pp. 4–9 p.304 ‘Women clustered under’: Carlos P. Romula, USMC, quoted Lewis, Eyewitness World War II, p. 268
p.308 ‘Today all of us’: TNA PREM 3/469/13
p.311 ‘We’ll get it over by spring’: ibid., p. 35
23rd Army’s invasion of Hong Kong: see ibid., pp. 53–7 p.314 ‘There must be no thought’: ibid., pp. 66–7

‘the first man to surrender’: ibid., p. 67

p.315 10,000 Hong Kong Chinese women raped: ibid., pp. 81–2; see also testimony of Connie Sully, in Rees, Their Darkest Hour, pp. 129–35

p.318 ‘We are paying very heavily now’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, 12.2.42, p. 229
HMAS Sydney: I am grateful to Michael Montgomery, the son of the cruiser’s navigating officer, for updating me on the Court of Inquiry in 2008–9 headed by Justice Terence Cole

17: China and the Philippines

p.323 For the New Fourth Army incident, see Chang and Halliday, Mao, pp. 278–85

‘proletarian internationalism’: Garver, Chinese–Soviet Relations, p. 239

For the Japanese strategic bombing offensive, see Edna Tow, ‘The Great Bombing of Chongqing and the Anti-Japanese War, p.328 ‘the sick man of Asia’: van de Ven, War and Nationalism in China, p. 13

For the Nationalists’ problems in recruiting and feeding their forces and population, see ibid., pp. 253–83

p.329 ‘offensive spirit’: van de Ven, War and Nationalism in China, p. 10

p.331 Plan ‘Orange’: Philippine Islands, USACMH, 1992

p.332 ‘Battling Bastards of Bataan’: Philippine Islands, USACMH, 1992

18: War across the World

p.335 ‘Roosevelt is a fanatic’: quoted Berezhkov, History in the Making, pp. 159–60

‘like a bolt from the blue’: TBJG, part II, vol. ii, p. 453

p.337 Dönitz and Hitler: Kershaw, Fateful Choices, p. 384

p.346 Moscow in the early months of 1942: Braithwaite, Moscow 1941, pp. 333–9

Construction of the corduroy road: Bellamy, Absolute War, pp. 366–70

p.347 'irresponsible and heartless treatment': quoted Reid, Leningrad, p. 278

'You don’t know what it was like': quoted ibid., p. 22

'People turn into animals': Yelena Skrjabina, Siege and Survival: The Odyssey of a Leningrader, Carbondale, Ill., 1971, p. 28

56th Division in 55th Army: Vasily Yershov, untitled typescript, Bakhmeteff Archive, Columbia University, quoted Reid, Leningrad, p. 320

'once again we are': Sold. K.B., 23.1.42, BlfZ-SS
19: Wannsee and the SS Archipelago

p.351 ‘the small Afrika Korps’: Hans-Hermann H., 13.3.42, BfZ-SS N91.2

p.352 ‘undertake, by emigration or evacuation’: Hilberg, The Destruction of the European Jews, p. 163; ‘the physical annihilation’: ibid., p. 163

p.355 Martin Luther: see Echart Conze, Norbert Frei, Peter Hayes and Moshe Zimmermann, Das Amt und die Vergangenheit. Deutsche Diplomaten im Dritten Reich und in der Bundesrepublik, Munich, 2010; for the original Martin Luther and the Jews, see Hilberg, The Destruction of the European Jews, pp. 13–15

p.358 ‘an unwritten and never to be written’: IMT 29:145

Medical experiments in Dachau, and ‘for use as saddles’: Franz Blaha, ‘Holocaust: Medical experiments at Dachau’, IMT; NA II RG 238, Box 16

Danzig Anatomical Medical Institute: GARF 9401/2/96. Spanner was never prosecuted because there was no law against experiments on corpses

‘It is the writer’s duty’: Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/1/123

Warsaw ghetto uprising: see ibid., pp. 204–11

‘The uproar was monstrous’: quoted Padfield, Himmler, p. 449

‘Waves of stone’: RGALI, 1710/3/21

20: Japanese Occupation and the Battle of Midway

Occupation of Hong Kong: Snow, The Fall of Hong Kong, pp. 77–148

‘quota of twenty enlisted men’: Tanaka, Hidden Horrors, p. 93

The United States, Nationalist China and the British Empire: see Snow, The Fall of Hong Kong, pp. 142–8

‘The British Grenadiers’ and ‘The Eton Boating Song’: ibid., p. 185

US submarines accounting for 55 per cent of all craft sunk: World War II Quarterly, 5.2, p. 64

‘beating’: Admiral Nagumo Chuichi, quoted Office of Naval Intelligence, June 1947, NHHC, OPNAV P32-1002

‘not aware of our plans’: ibid.

p.375 ‘As soon as the fires’: Admiral Nagumo, quoted Office of Naval Intelligence, June 1947, NHHC, OPNAV P32-1002

‘At 23.50’: ibid.

p.376 ‘Had we lacked early information’: Commander-in-Chief Pacific Fleet to Commander-in-Chief Fleet, 28.6.42, NHHC, Battle of Midway: 4–7 June 1942 Action Reports, F-2042

2.1: Defeat in the Desert

p.378 ‘The fighting has none’: Uffz. Hans-Hermann H., 8.4.42, BFZ-SS N91.2

p.380 ‘For the first time since’: de Gaulle, Mémoires de guerre, vol. i, p. 323

p.381 ‘very unpleasant situation’: Below, Als Hitlers Adjutant, p. 311

p.382 ‘Oh, the heart beating with emotion’: de Gaulle, Mémoires de guerre, vol. i, p. 325

p.387 Cairo and Alexandria during the ‘flap’: Cooper, Cairo in the War, pp. 190–201

p.390 ‘not affect the world situation’: quoted Roberts, Masters and Commanders, p. 233

2.2: Operation Blau – Barbarossa Relaunched

‘around eighty German soldiers’: Sold. Ferdinand S., 88.Inf.Div., BFZ-SS 05831 E

‘the great alarm’: captured diary, TsAFSB 14/4/328, pp. 367–71

p.396 ‘You are under military law’: order of 31.1.42, TsAMO 206/294/48, p. 346

‘endless uncultivated fields’: captured diary, TsAFSB 14/4/328, pp. 367–71

Mekhlis: Montefiore, Stalin: The Court of the Red Tsar, p. 365

p.397 ‘They have been hurriedly’: TsAFSB 14/4/328, pp. 367–71

p.398 ‘It was terrible’: Vladimirov, Voina soldata-zemitchika, p. 234

‘We advanced from Volchansk’: Yevgeny Fyodorovich Okishev in Drabkin (ed.), Seyashchennaya voina, p. 210

‘Tanks! Tanks coming!’, ‘It looked like a magical’: Vladimirov, Voina soldata-zemitchika, p. 300

p.401 ‘We are really going’: O’Gefr. Karl H., Aufl.Stfl.4 (F) 122, 7.6.42, BfZ-SS L 28 420

p.402 ‘I can only say’: O’Gefr. Kurt P., Radl.Rgt.4, 15.6.42, BfZ-SS 29 962

p.404 ‘at least have it within’: Weisung Nr. 41, quoted Below, Als Hitler’s Adjutant, p. 309

‘As far as the eye can see’: Clemens Podewils, Don und Volga, Munich, 1952, p. 47

p.405 ‘For the local people’: O’Gefr. Fritz W., Ldsschutz.Btl.389, 9.7.42, BfZ-SS 05 951

‘If we don’t take’: Friedrich Paulus, Ich stehe hier auf Befehl, Frankfurt am Main, 1960, p. 137

‘Panic-mongers and cowards’: TsAMO 48/486/28, p. 8

p.406 30,000 Gulag prisoners: GARF 9401/1a/128, p. 121
‘Comrade commissar I’ve always been a good man’: Yefim Abelevich Golbraikh in Drabkin (ed.), Svyashchennaya voina, pp. 114–15 p.407 ‘Make use of us today!’: Podewils, Don und Volga, p. 107

‘In the late afternoon’: Richthofen KTB, 23.8.42, BA-MA N671/2/7/9, p. 140

p.408 ‘We looked at the immense steppe’: conversation with Generalleutnant A.d. Bernd Freiherr Freytag von Loringhoven, 23.10.95

‘intently at each soldier’: Berezhkov, History in the Making, p. 193

p.410 ‘He has got an unpleasantly’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, p. 301

p.411 ‘Let’s open the Second Front’: Ehrenburg, Men, Years – Life, vol. v, p. 78

Performance of Shostakovich’s Leningrad symphony: Bellamy, Absolute War, pp. 389–90

p.412 ‘The air filled with’: Boris Antonov letter in ‘Ot party do obleiska’, Nasha voina, Moscow, 2005, p. 256

p.413 ‘that the Russians were finished’: Below, Als Hitlers Adjutant, p. 313

Hitler and Italian ambassador: ADAP Series E, vol. iii, pp. 304–7, quoted Kitchen, Rommel’s Desert War, p. 286

‘Anyway, we will not be taking’: Sold. Heinrich R., 389.Inf.Div., 28.8.42, BfZ-SS 43 260

p.414 ‘very cool’: Richthofen KTB, 23.8.42, BA-MA N671/2/7/9, p. 140

‘in chains’, ‘given land in Transylvania’: TsAMO FSB 14/4/326, pp. 269–70

Romanian pay and rations: TsA FSB 14/4/777, pp. 32–4

2.3: Fighting Back in the Pacific

p.416 ‘to let off steam’: 30.3.42, Ernest J. King Papers, quoted Spector, Eagle against the Sun, p. 143

p.420 ‘The Fever was on us’: Robert Leckie, Helmet for my Pillow, London, 2010, p. 82

p.421 ‘Everyone looked the other way’: ibid., p. 89

p.423 Marines bartering: Spector, Eagle against the Sun, p. 205

p.426 ‘I can’t be rude’: quoted ibid., p. 85
p.427 ‘the rapid build-up’: memorandum for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, MP, II, pp. 475–6 ‘accomplish the downfall of Japan’: quoted van de Ven, War and Nationalism in China, p. 36

24: Stalingrad

p.429 ‘What’s the matter with them?’: quoted Volkogonov, Stalin: Triumph and Tragedy, p. 461
‘This war on the border’: RGALI 1710/3/50
‘Please send me a present’: TsA FSB 114/4/326, pp. 167–8
‘too sad to watch the newsreels’: TsA FSB 14/4/943, pp. 38–9
‘That is a lie!’: Domarus, vol. ii, p. 1908
For the List–Jodl crisis at Führer headquarters, see also Kershaw, Hitler, 1936–1945: Nemesis, pp. 532–3
‘long stare of burning hate’: Walter Warlimont, Im Hauptquartier der deutschen Wehrmacht, 1939–1945, Frankfurt am Main, 1962, p. 269

p.432 ‘Nobody believes that Stalingrad’: diary of assistant political officer Sokolov, 92nd Reserve Regiment, 11.9.42, TsA FSB 42/31/577, p. 42
p.433 ‘the blocking unit of the 62nd Army’: Selivanovsky, chief of Special Department Stalingrad Front, TsA FSB 14/4/326, pp. 220–3 ‘Stalingrad looks like’: Anurin diary, 7.9.42 (private collection, Moscow)

p.434 ‘From the very first days’: 1.4.43, TsA FSB 3/10/136, pp. 45–73
‘nine grams’: TsAMO 48/486/24, p. 162
‘the defeatist mood’: Dobronin to Shcherbakov, 8.10.42, TsAMO 48/486/24, p. 74
‘is exploited by German agents’: ibid., p. 77

p.435 ‘It is hard for them’: Dobronin to Shcherbakov, 11.11.42, TsAMO 48/486/25, pp. 138–9
‘When we were moved’: Amza Amzaevich Mamutov, http://www.iremember.ru/pekhorinisci/mamutov-amza-amzaevich/stranitsa-3.html

‘What if your beloved girl’: Stalinskoe Znamya, 8.9.42, TsAMO 230/586/1, p. 79

‘For the defenders of Stalingrad’: Koshcheev to Shcherbakov, 17.11.42, TsAMO 48/486/25, p. 216

‘Since yesterday’: anon., 29.Inf.Div.(mot.), 15.9.42, BfZ-SS

‘Our pilots feel that’: Dobronin to Shcherbakov, 4.10.42, TsAMO 48/486/24, p. 48

‘The ammunition brought over during the night’: Belousov, Special Detachment Stalingrad Front, 21.9.42, TsF SB 14/4/326, pp. 229–30

‘Germans are fighting without counting ammunition’: Second Special Dept NKVD to Beria and Abakumov, 4.9.42, TsA FSB 14/4/913, pp. 27–31

‘You can’t imagine’: TsA FSB 41/51/814, p. 7

‘the morning rise’ etc.: Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/3/50

‘The soldier who was carrying’: Uffz. Alois Heimesser, 297th Infantry Division, 14.11.42, TsA FSB 42/22/11, pp. 62–5

‘A report had to be sent in’: Vladimir Vladimirovich Gormin, Novgorodskaya Pravda, 21.4.95

‘Tobacco hunger and the vodka ration: ibid.

‘If they don’t’: 4.11.42, TsAMO 48/486/25, p. 47

‘the introduction of a unified command’: TsAMO 48/486/25, pp. 176–7

‘absolutely incorrect attitude’, ‘political department is’: Koshcheev to Shcherbakov, 14.11.42, TsAMO 48/486/25, p. 179

Stalingrad Front interrogations: TsAMO 62/335/7, 48/453/13, 206/294/12, 206/294/47, 206/294/48, 226/335/7

‘On some parts of the front’: Dobronin to Shcherbakov, 8.10.42, TsAMO 48/486/24, p. 81

‘Russians in the German army’: interrogation, 4.3.43, TsAMO 226/335/7, p. 364

Events in Sinkiang province: Garver, Chinese–Soviet Relations, pp. 169–77
‘A furious artillery bombardment’: Vladimir Vladimirovich Gornin, Novgorodskaya Pravda, 21.4.95

p.442 ‘real mass heroism’: TsAMO, 48/486/24, p. 200
‘In the last two days’: Koshcheev to Scherbakov, 6.11.42, TsAMO 48/486/25, p. 69
‘I often think of the words’: TsAFSB 40/22/12, pp. 96–100
‘It’s impossible to describe’: Gefr. Gelman, quoted in Volgograd
University project, AMPSB
‘the dogs fight like lions’: Gefr. H.S., 389.Inf.Div., 5.11.42, BfZ-SS
‘the sooner I am’: quoted Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/1/100

p.443 ‘Time is of no importance’: Domarus, vol. ii, pp. 1937–8

‘The ice floes collide’: Grossman papers, RGALI 618/2/108

p.444 If the Katyusha sings’: TsAFSB 14/4/326, p. 307 ‘shift the strategic situation’: Zhukov, Kakim my yego pomnim,
p. 140

p.445 ‘sold their Motherland’: TsAMO 48/453/13, p. 4 ‘enough to buy one litre of milk’: interrogation Romanian cavalry
lieutenant, 26.9.42, TsAMO 206/294/47, p. 561
‘very rude to soldiers’, ‘a sin against’, ‘low political moral state’:
TsAMO 48/453/13, pp. 4–7
‘raping all the women’: TsAFSB 14/4/326, pp. 264–7
‘moved from the central part’: Professor O. A. Rzheshevsky at the Stalingrad Seminar, London, 9.5.2000
Zhukov’s movements in the autumn of 1942: S. I. Isaev, ‘Vekhi
David Glantz on Operation Mars: see his General Zhukov’s Greatest Defeat: The Red Army’s Epic Disaster in Operation

p.446 ‘2.5 to 4.5 ammunition loads. . .’, Gen of the Army M.A. Gareev, session of the National Committee of Russian Historians on 28.12.99. I am grateful to Professor Oleg Rzheshevsky, the President of the Russian Association of the Second World War
Historians for sending me their Information Bulletin No.5, 2000, with the verbatim record of the meeting.
‘The offensive predicted by Max’: Pavel Sudoplatov, Special Tasks: The Memoirs of an Unwanted Witness – A Soviet Spymaster, London, 1994, p. 139

p.447 ‘One part of a small wood’: Ehrenburg, Men, Years – Life, vol. v, pp. 80–1
Soviet casualties in Operation Mars: see Glantz, Zhukov’s Greatest Defeat, pp. 304, 318–19 and 379
25: Alamein and Torch

p.451 ‘that German transports’: Below, Als Hitler’s Adjutant, p. 322 p.452 ‘Americans can only make’: quoted Kitchen, Rommel’s Desert War, p. 316
p.456 ‘In the position in which’: BA-MA RH/19/VIII/343
p.457 Hitler’s journey to Munich: Kershaw, Hitler, 1936–1945: Nemi-sis, p. 539
p.458 ‘standing at a turning point’: TBJG, part II, vol. vi, p. 259
For the Madagascar campaign, see Smith, England’s Last War against France, pp. 281–355
p.462 ‘This admiral knows how to swim’: Édouard Herriot, Épisodes, 1940–1944, Paris, 1950, p. 75 p.465 ‘How Green is our Ally’: Guy Liddell diary, 6.1.43, TNA KV 4/191.
‘Bring on the panzers!’: Atkinson, An Army at Dawn, p. 160

26: Southern Russia and Tunisia

p.466 ‘temporary encirclement’: BA-MA RH 20-6/241
‘a bull-necked’: GBP
‘that would be a Napoleonic ending’: BA-MA N601/v.4, p. 3

‘it’s useless to feed’: 12.12.42, TsA FSB 40/22/11, pp. 77–80

p.468 ‘Even death is preferable’: NKVD Don Front interrogation, 12.12.42, Sold. Karl Wilniker, 376th Infantry Division, TsA FSB 14/5/173, p. 223

“The worst is past”: Sold. K.P., 14.12.42, BfZ-SS

p.471 ‘We’ll never see’: Divisionspfarrer Dr Hans Mühle, 305th Infanterie Division, 18.1.1943, BA-MA N241/42

‘We have got to believe’: H. Paschke; ‘If we lose the war’: Hugo Miller, both 25.1.43, GBP p.474 ‘morbid sense of honor’: quoted Atkinson, An Army at Dawn, p. 197

p.475 SOE involvement in Darlan’s assassination and OSS reactions: based on conversations with the late Sir Douglas Dodds-Parker, Sir Brookes Richards, Evangeline Bruce and Lloyd Cutler ‘son-of-a-bitch’: conversation with Susan-Mary Alsop

p.476 ‘in the German way’: BA-MA N395/12

p.477 ‘The German soldier suffers’: Divisionspfarrer Dr Hans Mühle, 305th Infanterie Division, 18.1.1943, BA-MA N241/42

‘I and the whole German Wehrmacht’: BA-MA RH20-6/236 ‘It’s twenty days since we were encircled’: TsA FSB 40/28/38, pp. 69–72

p.478 ‘On the first day of the holidays’: TsA FSB 40/28/38, pp. 52–3 ‘crushing the wounded’: Divisionspfarrer Dr Hans Mühle, 305th Infanterie Division, 18.1.1943, BA-MA N241/42

p.479 ‘When liberating the’: TsA FSB 14/4/1330, p. 17 ‘from the beginning of December 1942’: Abakumov to Vishinsky on atrocities by German soldiers to Soviet prisoners of war, 2.9.43, TsA FSB 14/5/1, pp. 228–35

Soviet prisoners dying at Gumrak when given food: Yevgeny Fyodorovich Okishev in Drabkin (ed.), Svyashchennaya voina, p. 222

‘Surrender out of the question’: BA-MA RH19VI/12, p. 324

p.480 ‘like wild animals’: BA-MA RW4/v.264 ‘Paulus was completely unnerved’: Zakhary Rayzman, personal account. I am grateful to his grandson, Val Rayzman, for passing it to me

p.481 ‘great agitation caused’, ‘so-called factual’: BA-MA RL 5/793 ‘days of apolitical soldiering’: GSWW, vol. ix/1, p. 589

27: Casablanca, Kharkov and Tunis

‘We had all seen the enemy’: ibid., p. 80

p. 485 ‘we came, we listened’: quoted Atkinson, An Army at Dawn, p. 289

‘A dashing, courageous’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, p. 361

p. 486 ‘Ike is more British’: diary, 12.4.43, Blumenson (ed.), The Patton Papers, vol. ii, p. 218

‘I am a cross between’: Eisenhower to Paul Hodgson, 4.12.42, EP 687, quoted Crosswell, Beetle, p. 360

p. 488 ‘under a transparent crust of ice’: Irina Dunaevskaya, 15–16.1.43, in Zvezda, no. 5, 2010, p. 64

‘Your prayers’: Dmitri Kabanov, Pamyat’ pisem ili chelovek iz tridzachatverki, Moscow, 2006, p. 36

p. 489 ‘a two-storey barrack’: VCD, 22.2.43

p. 490 ‘Can this possibly be’: Nikolai Ayrkhayev, Far Eastern Affairs, no. 4, 1990, p. 124

p. 491 ‘For the last week and a half’: Ivan Ivanovich Korolkov, 10.2.43, in Pisma s ognennogo rubezha (1941–1945), St Petersburg, 1992, pp. 39–4

p. 493 Relative strengths on the eastern front: Glantz and House, When Titans Clash’d, p. 151

Women in the Red Army and at Stalingrad: see Reina Pennington, ‘Women and the Battle of Stalingrad’, in Ljubica Erickson and Mark Erickson (eds), Russia: War, Peace and Diplomacy, London, 2005

‘These girls evoked memories’: Ehrenburg, Men, Years – Life, vol. v, pp. 81–2

‘Many were sent back to the rear’: Yevgeny Fyodorovich Okishev in Drabkin (ed.), Svyashchennaya voina, p. 172

p.494 ‘great sin’, ‘Yet all around’: Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/3/50 p.496 ‘You will have heard’: Gefr. Siegfried K., 15.Pz.Div., 16.2.43, BfZ-SS 09 348

p.504 ‘Niggers’: quoted ibid., p. 152

p.505 ‘Greater German economic sphere’: GSWW, vol. ii, p. 322

p.508 ‘We soldiers are like gods’: Lt Peter G., 714.Inf.Div., 24.6.41, BfZ-SS 41 768 B p.510 ‘Belgrade was the only great city’: quoted ibid., p. 423

Stunted growth of the young in France: Collingham, The Taste of War, p. 172

p.516 the great advantage of remaining above the fray: conversation with Sir Brookes Richards, 1993
p.517 ‘Personally, I think it is time’: Guy Liddell diary, 14.1.43, TNA KV 4/191

p.519 ‘nothing was more like Vichy than Algiers’: conversation with General Pierre de Bénouville, Jan. 1993

p.520 ‘Heil Hess!’: Mazower, Hitler’s Empire, pp. 476–7 p.522 Danish food supplies for Germany: Collingham, The Taste of War, p. 175

29: The Battle of the Atlantic and Strategic Bombing

p.528 ‘five divisions, twenty squadrons’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, p. 285

p.530 ‘In which case’: John Colville, The Fringes of Power, p. 145

p.531 ‘air destruction was so exaggerated’: PP, folder 2c, quoted Tami Davis Biddle, Rhetoric and Reality in Air Warfare: The Evolution of British and American Ideas about Strategic Bombing, 1914–1945, Princeton, 2002, p. 2

‘a pattern of exaggeration’: ibid., p. 69

to bomb them harder’: Trenchard, quoted ibid., p. 71

’intentional bombardment of’: TNA AIR 14/249

p.533 ‘take the gloves off’: quoted Biddle, Rhetoric and Reality in Air Warfare, p. 188

p.534 For the lives of bomber aircrew, see Patrick Bishop, Bomber Boys, London, 2008, and Daniel Swift, Bomber County, London, 2010

p.535 ‘had to hose it out’: quoted Swift, Bomber County, p. 56

‘keyed up like a violin’: ibid., p. 70

’a glorified bus driver’: Bishop, Bomber Boys, p. 48

‘Now terror will be’: Below, Als Hitlers Adjutant, p. 308

‘The worst thing is seeing’: quoted Swift, Bomber County, p. 95

‘A shell bursting beneath you’: quoted Bishop, Bomber Boys, p. 103

‘primary objective will be’: Casablanca Directive, quoted Biddle, Rhetoric and Reality in Air Warfare, p. 215

‘All the inhabitants’: Hermans, Köln im Bombenkrieg, p. 30

‘Children were running’: Lina S. in Rüther, Köln im Zweiten Weltkrieg, p. 167

‘Everywhere you heard the screams’: ibid., p. 243

‘It sounded like’: quoted Miller, Eighth Air Force, p. 198

‘like a Parachute invasion’: ibid., p. 199

‘The sky arches’: TB/JG, part II, vol. x, 27.11.43, p. 136
‘like a stage-set for’: Kardorff, Berliner Aufzeichnungen, p. 153

‘ashamed of area bombing’: Harris to Sir Arthur Street, under-secretary of state at the air ministry, 25.10.43, TNA AIR 14/843, quoted Biddle, Rhetoric and Reality in Air Warfare, p. 22

‘the Luftwaffe will go’: Swift, Bomber County, p. 143

‘Jupiter complex’: quoted Friedrich, Der Brand, p. 101

30: The Pacific, China and Burma

‘smelled like goats’: quoted Rafael Steinberg, Island Fighting, New York, 1978, p. 194

‘Don’t squeeze that trigger’: Leckie, Helmet for my Pillow, p. 214

White Russians in Shanghai: Wasserstein, Secret War in Shanghai, p. 239

nothing more than ‘a hopeless crank’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, p. 479

‘You might as well eat’: ibid., 19.4.43, p. 394

31: The Battle of Kursk

For the best analysis of the Kursk operation, see David M. Glantz and Jonathan M. House, The Battle of Kursk, Lawrence, Kan., 1999; also Bellamy, Absolute War

‘Victory at Kursk’: quoted Bellamy, Absolute War, p. 577

German and Soviet strengths: Glantz and House, The Battle of Kursk, p. 65

p.570 Sikorski aircrash: conversation with Victor Cazalet

p.571 ‘I believe that this’: Flh.J.Uffz. Werner K., 2.Btr./Je.Flak-Abt.74, BfZ-SS L 20 909
‘a wonderful image for the newsreels’: Uffz. Herbert Peter S., 19.Pz.Div., 7.7.43, BfZ-SS 13 925
‘If something of the sort’: Sold. Karl K., 36.Inf.Div., 7.7.43, BfZ-SS 08 818C

p.572 ‘cannon-bird’: Agte, Michael Wittmann, p. 100
‘Our Luftwaffe is really fantastic’: H’Fw. Willy P., 167.Inf.Div., BfZ-SS 19 279 D
‘shells hit them’, ‘A gun-layer fired’: RGALI 1710/3/51

‘The Luftwaffe was bombing’: RGALI 1710/3/51
‘This was face-to-face’, ‘The quieter it is’: RGALI 1710/3/51

p.575 ‘everything was on fire’, ‘A lieutenant, wounded’: RGALI 1710/3/51

p.576 Ninth Army losses: Glantz and House, The Battle of Kursk, p. 121

‘In five days’: Lt Paul D., III.Gru./St.G.2 ‘I mmelmann’, 10.7.43, BfZ-SS L 16 641
p.582 ‘What I saw left me’: quoted in Frank Kurowski, Panzer Aces, Winnipeg, 1992, p. 279
‘They were around us’: Rudolf Lehmann, The Leibstandarte, vol. iii, Winnipeg, 1993, p. 234, quoted Glantz and House, The Battle of Kursk, p. 185
‘The atmosphere was choking’: Anatoly Volkov, quoted Lloyd Clark, ‘The Battle of Kursk 1943’ in The Wishstream, 2010, p. 140

p.583 ‘Germans were crushed’: ibid.

p.584 ‘This war was never’: Lt Paul D., III.Gru./St.G.2 ‘Immelmann’, 18.7.43, BfZ-SS L 16 641 Operation Rumyantsev, ‘For the weary German infantry’: Glantz and House, The Battle of Kursk, pp. 246–7 p.585 ‘The smell of burning’: RGALI 1710/3/50

p.586 ‘The men are now fighting’: RGALI 1710/3/50
‘The 1943 warrior’: BA-MA RH 13/50, quoted GSWW, vol. ix/1, p. 597
’intellectual, introspective’: ibid., p. 598

3.2: From Sicily to Italy

p.588 ‘Their hearts are really in the Pacific’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, 15.4.43, p. 393

p.590 ‘He would have to meet’: quoted Hastings, Finest Years, p. 375
‘He is a little fellow’: ibid., p. 237

p.591 ‘indignant that Giraud’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, p. 414

p.593 ‘hordes of tiny craft’: Jack Belden, Still Time to Die, New York, 1943, p. 269

p.596 ‘From the high ground’: Joe Kelley, SWWEC

p.599 ‘one could buy’: ibid., 20.7.43, p. 295 186 cases of VD: Jim Williams, SWWEC.

p.602 ‘I guess I can’t take it’, etc., and ‘There’s no such thing’: Atkinson, The Day of Battle, pp. 147–8 p.606 ‘The Führer is determined’: TBG, part II, vol. ix, p. 460

‘We stood to at dawn’: Michael Howard, Captain Professor: A Life in War and Peace, London, 2006, p. 73

p.610 ‘That we will win’: Nachlass Jodl, 7.11.43, BA MA N 69/17

33: Ukraine and the Teheran Conference

p.612 ‘There were cases’: RGALI 619/1/953

‘Children, sons’: Reshat Zevadinovich Sadredinov in Drabkin (ed.), Svyashchennaya voina, p. 196

‘We collected those’: Mikhail Petrovich Chebykin, http://www.iremember.ru/pekhotintsyi/chebykin-mikhail-petrovich/

p.613 ‘Some peasant families’, ‘a little wizened’: GBP

‘Old men, when they’: RGALI 1710/1/100

p.614 ‘This was the murder’: RGALI 1710/1/101

p.615 ‘measures to shorten’: Moskovskaya Konferentsiya Ministrov Inostrannykh Del SSSR, SSSh i Velikobritanii, Moscow, 1984, quoted Roberts, Stalin’s Wars, p. 177

‘little wooden box’ etc.: GBP

p.618 ‘I am speaking about this’: Berezhkov, At Stalin’s Side, p. 239

‘India is Churchill’s’: Berezhkov, History in the Making, p. 259

‘must be punished’: quoted Roberts, Stalin’s Wars, p. 181

p.619 ‘Now the fate of Europe’: Beria, Beria, my Father, p. 92

‘a mission that is delicate and morally reprehensible’: ibid., p. 93

p.620 Roosevelt and Churchill on Poland: ibid., p. 94

‘won the game’: ibid., p. 95

Chiefs of staff and end of war: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, 7.12.43, p. 492

p.622 ‘fighting in reverse gear’: 27.1.44, GSWW, vol. ix/1, p. 614
‘We are living in filth. It is hopeless’: Werth, Leningrad, p. 81

34: The Shoah by Gas

p.623 ‘insatiable ambition’: SS Brigadeführer Dr Werner Best, quoted Padfield, Himmler, p. 361 ‘historic task’: Browning, The Origins of the Final Solution, p. 435

p.625 ‘They had been given’: Rudolf Hoess, Commandant of Auschwitz, London, 2000, p. 121
‘They were no longer human beings’: ibid., p. 124

‘People were deceived’ report by Shikin, deputy chief of the Main Political Department of the Red Army, 9.2.45, RGASPI 17/125/323, pp. 1–4 p.627 ‘It is not a Weltansschauungs-question’: 24.4.43, IMT 1919 PS

‘prototype serums and drugs’: Jeffrey, Hell’s Cartel, p. 327
‘I have the opportunity’: ibid., p. 328

p.628 ‘a coarse, stupid’: Hoess, Commandant of Auschwitz, p. 19, Primo Levi’s introduction

p.629 ‘I find it incredible’: ibid., p. 135
‘many of the women hid their babies’: ibid., p. 149

p.630 ‘They carried out all’: ibid., p. 152
p.631 ‘People were told that’: RGALI 1710/i/123
p.634 ‘the one-eyed German’: ibid.

p.635 ‘the earth is throwing out’: ibid.

p.636 ‘We faced the question’: quoted Kershaw, Hitler, 1936–1945: Nemesis, p. 625
‘race struggle’: BA-B NS 19/4014, quoted GSWW, vol. ix/1, pp. 628–9
35: Italy – The Hard Underbelly

‘There was as yet’: Hamilton, Monty: Master of the Battlefield, p. 409

‘Rhodes madness’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, 7.10.43, p. 458

‘He has worked himself’: ibid., p. 459

p.639  ‘Just after [our] armoured cars’: Clarke, The Eleventh at War, p. 319

p.641  201st Guards Brigade on Monte Camino and 34th and 45th Divisions: Atkinson, The Day of Battle, p. 260

p.642  ‘ordered ferocity’: GBP, Nov. 1943

‘a slight little man’: GBP

p.648  ‘I was amazed to see’: Kenneally, The Honour and the Shame, p. 152

‘Don’t stick your neck out’: quoted Atkinson, The Day of Battle, p. 355

The Pontine Marshes and malaria: Richard Evans, The Third Reich at War, pp. 477–8 p.649  ‘We all had a sickening’: Kenneally, The Honour and the Shame, p. 158

p.651  ‘A series of short sharp’: ibid., p. 165

p.652  ‘the Bowling Alley’: Atkinson, The Day of Battle, p. 426

‘We hoped to land a wildcat’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, 29.2.44, p. 527

p.656  ‘if the German’: TBJG, part II, vol. vii, 8.2.43, p. 296
36: The Soviet Spring Offensive

p.657 Meeting with Hitler: 4.1.44, Manstein, Lost Victories, pp. 500–5 p.658 German army losing the equivalent of a regiment per day: GS­WW, vol. ix/1, p. 805
Wehrmacht strength in January 1944: ibid., p. 671
Red Army strength and weaknesses: Glantz and House, When Titans Clash­ed, pp. 179–81
‘wicked little eyes’: Beria, Beria, my Father, p. 130
‘Our car passed the body’: GBP, Dec. 1943
Leningrad–Novgorod operation: Bellamy, Absolute War, pp. 404–8 p.660 ‘The shells were throwing’: Pavel Zolotov, Zapiski minomyo­tchik, 1942–1945, Moscow, 2009, p. 107
‘I realized that I’, ‘covered in shit’: ibid., pp. 112, 119
Gatchina palace as a brothel: Werth, Leningrad, p. 188
p.661 ‘caught four Russian teenage boys’: VCD, 8.2.44
German Ninth Army forcing civilians into no-man’s­land: GS­WW, vol. ix/1, pp. 689–90
p.662 Seydlitz and General Melnikov: TsKhIDK 451p/3/7

37: The Pacific, China and Burma

Chiang Kai-shek and warning of Japanese offensive: van de Ven, War and Nationalism in China, p. 46
‘an overland clearing operation’: ibid., p. 397
Chennault’s claims: Spector, Eagle against the Sun, p. 350
p.671 ‘very tedious’, ‘remained wet for weeks’, ‘There were four thou­sand men’: Brigadier Bernard Fergusson, IMW 2586, quoted Julian Thompson, Forgotten Voices of Burma, London, 2009, p. 158
‘it was extraordinary’: Lt Richard Rhodes-James, 111th Brigade, IWM 19593
38: The Spring of Expectations

p.672 ‘a lethal dose’, ‘You could see people’: Maj. Desmond Whyte, RAMC, 111th Brigade, IWM 12570
p.673 ‘fighting the War of Independence all over again’: quoted Louis Allen, Burma: The Longest War, London, 1984, pp. 320–1 p.674 ‘They had renounced’: Maj. John Winstanley, B Company, 4th Battalion, Queen’s Own Royal West Kent Regiment, IWM 17955
‘The sheer weight of the attacks’: Maj. Harry Smith, headquarters company, 4th West Kents, IWM 19090
‘This will burn the Limeys’: Spector, Eagle against the Sun, p. 359 p.676 ‘By Christ, them little bastards’: Lt K. Cooper, quoted Ellis, The Sharp End, p. 84 ‘Both officers and men look’: quoted Fowler, We Gave our Today, p. 147
p.678 Chiang Kai-shek and Roosevelt: Dreyer, China at War, pp. 284–5 p.679 ‘Hsueh defended the city’: White and Jacoby, Thunder out of China, p. 183

38: The Spring of Expectations

p.685 ‘very considerable investment’: Butcher, Three Years with Eisenhower, 18.1.44, p. 493
‘Anvil [would] have to be sacrificed’: Bedell Smith to Eisenhower, 5.1.44, COSSAC File, W. Bedell Smith Papers, quoted Crosswell, Beetle, p. 557
‘pitiless civil war’: quoted Lacouture, De Gaulle: The Rebel, p. 528
p.687 ‘The capture of Rome is the only important objective’: quoted Atkinson, The Day of Battle, p. 516
‘Most wore sandals’: ibid., p. 528
p.689 ‘it is astonishing’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, p. 561
‘just a bit of cheap bluff’: General der Infanterie Blumentritt, de-briefing 6.8.45, NA II 407/427/2431
p.696 Dempsey on Eisenhower: conversation with Clive Duncan, to whom I am most grateful for this detail in a letter, 7.9.11
Three Skytrains shot down by Allied ships: Bill Goff, HMS Scylla, SWWEC, Everyone’s War, no. 20, Winter 2009
‘the whole horizon’: FMS B-403
p.699 ‘Some boats were coming back’: Reynolds, ‘The First Wave’, American Valor Quarterly, Spring/Summer 2009, pp. 15–22
p.701 ‘Am very satisfied’: Hamilton, Monty: Master of the Battlefield, p. 621

39: Bagration and Normandy
p.707 ‘heat of high-summer days’: Lt Rudolf F., 6.Inf.Div., 23.6.44, BfZ-SS 27 662 A p.711 ‘the traffic controller’: Lt Degan, quoted Paul Adair, Hitler’s Greatest Defeat, London, 1994, p. 106
‘When we entered Bobruisk’: Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/3/50 p.713 ‘Our people whom we’ve liberated’: letters from Vladimir Tsoglin to his mother, in I. Altman (ed.), Sokhrani moi pisma, Moscow, 2007, pp. 260–75
‘A partisan, a small man’: Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/3/47
p.715 NKVD in Lwów: Rees, World War II behind Closed Doors, p. 274
Their effect should be': O’Gefr. Otto L., Fl.H.Kdtr.(E) 209/XVII, 10.7.44, BfZ SS L 55 922

‘The Russians are attacking constantly’: Gefr. Heinrich R., Bau-Pi.Btl.735, 26.7.44, BfZ-SS 03 707 D

‘one can no longer’: O’Gefr. Karl B., Rgts.Gru.332, 28.7.44, BA-MA H 34/1

‘columns of soldiers and refugees’: Erika S., Ragnit, 28.7.44, BA-MA H 34/1 p.716 ‘It’s perfect logic’: P. I. Troyanovsky, Na vosmi frontakh, Moscow, 1982, p. 183

‘Stalin will avenge us!’: RGALI 1710/1/123

p.717 ‘NPT below rank major’: I am most grateful to Mr S. W. Kulhmann, for sending me a photocopy of his father’s field notebook, with this instruction, 5.2.11

‘no prisoners’, G. Steer, 1/4th KOYLI, SWWEC 2002.1644

‘heavy losses’: 27.6.44, TNA KV 9826

p.719 ‘Complete change so far as’: Myles Hildyard unpublished diary, 22.6.44 (private collection)

p.720 ‘You should make an end’: Blumentritt, ETHINT 73

‘a dirty bush war’: Peter Lieb, Konventioneller Krieg oder Weltanschauungskrieg? Kriegführung und Partisanenbekämpfung in Frankreich 1943/44, Munich, 2007, p. 176 (‘schmutziger Buschkrieg’)

p.723 ‘heavy bombers cannot participate intimately’: Montgomery quoted GBP p.724 ‘I am viewing the prospects’: 14.7.44, PDDE, p. 2004

40: Berlin, Warsaw and Paris

p.728 ‘changing horses’: GSWW, vol. ix/1, p. 853

p.730 ‘not altogether displeased’: Smith, Mussolini, p. 358

p.731 ‘not to optimize’: GSWW, vol. ix/1, p. 829
More than 5,000 suspected opponents: ibid., p. 912.

‘The generals who carried out’: Gefr. Heinrich R., Bau-Pi.Btl.735, 5.7.44, BfZ-SS 03 707 D

‘Our lives are not worth’: ibid.

p.732

‘With the German greeting’: Dr K., Feldlaz.8, 8.Jäg.Div., BA-MA RH 13 v.53

‘And soon they’ll be’: E.H., 26.7.44, BA-MA H 34/1

‘Dearest, do not be afraid’: O’Gefr M., Div.Vers.Rgt.195, 27.7.44, BA-MA H 14/1

p.733

‘The effect of the major conflicts’: Keitel and Jodl, FMS A-915

p.734

‘We’ve just received’: Lt Hans R., le.Flak-Abt.783(v.), 30.7.44, BfZ-SS L49 812

p.735

‘The Poles are strange’: letters from Efraim Genkin to his family, 18.8.44, in Altman (ed.), Sokhrani moi pisma, Moscow, 2007, pp. 276–82

p.736

‘If Stalin would use his own’: Timothy Snyder, Bloodlands, p. 298

Attack on Warsaw concentration camp: 5.8.44, Snyder, Bloodlands, p. 302

p.737

‘One bullet – One German!’: Dorota Niemczyk (ed.), Brok Eugeniusz Lokajski, 1908–1944, Warsaw, 2007; and MPW

‘When he jumped down’: Bartoszewski, Abandoned Heroes of the Warsaw Uprising, p. 50

p.739

p.740 'There are no Germans': quoted Maj. Gen. Kenner, chief medical officer SHAEF, OCMH-FPP p.741 'We must march on Paris': interview with Gen. de Faulle, OCMH-FPP
p.743 'In fighting Warsaw': Jan Lissowski, in Niemczyk (ed.), Brok Eugeniusz Lokajski
   'Let's dance a mazurka again': Roman Loth, in Niemczyk (ed.), Brok Eugeniusz Lokajski
   Bombing and IG Farben at Auschwitz III: see Jeffreys, Hell's Cartel, pp. 288–9 p.745 'We await you red plague': quoted Snyder, Bloodlands, p. 308

41: The Ichigō Offensive and Leyte
p.750 'We got the order to retreat': Al Ying Yunping, quoted Hastings, Nemesis, p. 12
   For repression, torture and the Maoist personality cult, see Chang and Halliday, Mao, pp. 288–305
p.754 vilification of Chiang Kai-shek: van de Ven, War and Nationalism in China, p. 3; White and Jacoby, Thunder out of China, New York, 1946
‘A full and open explanation’: quoted van de Ven, War and Nationalism in China, p. 60

p.758 ‘so many eggs’: Fukudome quoted Spector, Eagle against the Sun, p. 424

42: Unrealized Hopes

‘miraculously grafted’: Bradley, A Soldier’s Story, New York, 1965

‘Had the pious’: Omar N. Bradley, A Soldier’s Story, New York, 1961, p. 409

p.769 ‘We are mentally and morally’: Sold. W. W., Flak-Rg.291, A.O.K.16, BA-MA RH 13 v. 53

p.770 ‘liability’: quoted Roberts, Masters and Commanders, p. 523

‘open-mouthed’: GBP, 2.4.45
‘the most tiresome question’: TNA PREM 3/434/2, pp. 4–5, quoted Rees, World War II behind Closed Doors, p. 309 ‘thought rather cynical’, ‘No, you keep it’: Berezhkov, At Stalin’s Side, p. 304

p.772 ‘Britain went to war’, ‘And how many divisions’: ibid., pp. 309–10
‘the flood of Bolshevism’: quoted Roberts, Masters and Commanders, p. 527

p.774 ‘You know the Russians’: quoted Detlef Vogel, ‘Der Deutsche Kriegsalltag im Spiegel von Feldpostbriefen’, in Detlef Vogel and Wolfram Wette (eds), Andere Helme – Andere Menschen?
Heimaterfahrung und Frontalltag im Zweiten Weltkrieg, Essen, 1995, pp. 48–9

p. 775 ‘Bismarckian style’, ‘It was fought in brilliant’: GBP, 4.10.44 ‘At that time’: ibid.

p. 776 ‘malevolent appearance of a defeated city’: ibid.
‘I don’t get it’: ibid.

p. 777 ‘The American patrol leader’: GBP, 20.10.44 ‘large blank-faced women’: ibid.

p. 778 ‘Lithuanians hate us’: Efraim Genkin in Altman (ed.), Sokhrani moi pisma, pp. 276–82

p. 779 ‘Most of them had no desire’: http://iremember.ru/pekhotintsi/avrotinskiy-efim-mironovich.html
‘The Hungarians were actually’: Efim Mironovich Avrotinskii, http://iremember.ru/pekhotintsi/avrotinskiy-efim-mironovich.html

p. 780 For the Nazis’ Budapest coup, see Kershaw, Hitler, 1936–1945: Nemesis, pp. 734–7

Persecution and attempts to save Jews in Budapest: ibid., pp. 216–42

60 per cent of all bombs dropped on Germany after July 1944: ibid., p. 79
‘only became insurmountable’: ibid., p. 134

p. 785 ‘At 05.15, the artillery preparation’: Blumenson (ed.), The Patton Papers, vol. ii, p. 571
‘The whole damn company’: Bradley, A Soldier’s Story, pp. 430–1

p. 786 ‘an eerie haunting region’: Russell F. Weigley, Eisenbouwer’s Lieutenants, Bloomington, Ind., 1990, p. 365 Allotment of replacements: Bradley, A Soldier’s Story, p. 438

p.788 ‘two thousand-year stare’: Ellis, The Sharp End, p. 252
Casualties in the Hürtgen Forest: see Fussell, The Boys’ Crusade, p. 83
‘It probably won’t be ours’: Bradley, A Soldier’s Story, p. 433
53rd (Welsh) Division in Reichswald: Ellis, The Sharp End, p. 169

43: The Ardennes and Athens

p.791 ‘GI’s in their zest for’: Bradley, A Soldier’s Story, p. 428
p.793 Bormann at Ziegenberg: Kershaw, The End, p. 145
p.796 ‘Where in the hell’: Chester B. Hansen, diary 17.12.44, Hansen Papers, USAMHI
p.797 ‘Fine, we should open up’: Butcher, Three Years with Eisenhower, p. 613
’a diversion for a larger’, ‘everything depends’: GBP, 17/12/44
p.798 ‘We’re packing up’: conversation with M. R. D. Foot, 2.12.09
‘When can you attack?’: ibid., pp. 599–600
‘Well, Brad, those are’: quoted Crosswell, Beetle, p. 816
782 German corpses: Harold R. Winton, Corps Commanders of the Bulge, Lawrence, Kan., 2007, p. 135
‘the American Luftwaffe’: Ellis, The Sharp End, p. 72
p.805 ‘suggested that de Gaulle’: DCD, 4.1.45 ‘discussed all the evils of Monty’s press interview’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, 8.1.45, p. 644
p.806 ‘to face geopolitical realities’: Mazower, Inside Hitler’s Greece, p. 268; events in Greece described here are mainly based on Mazower’s excellent account

p.809 ‘resembled a besieged outpost’: Hastings, Finest Years, p. 536

‘three shabby desperados’: ibid., p. 537

p.810 For the suffering of Belgium in the late autumn and winter of 1944, see Hitchcock, Liberation, pp. 64–9 p.811 Belgian civilians in the Ardennes: see ibid., pp. 81–90

p.813 ‘For the attacking Canadians’: quoted Ellis, The Sharp End, p. 363

---

44: From the Vistula to the Oder

p.815 ‘Thank God that’: BA-MA MSg 2/5275 v. 1.6.40

p.821 ‘It was a girl’: Denes Vass, quoted Ungvár, Battle for Budapest, p. 144

p.822 ‘Some streets must be guessed at’: Sándor Márai, ‘Budai sétá’, in Budapest, Dec. 1945, p. 96, quoted ibid., p. 234

p.823 ‘In many places they are raping women’: László Deceodiary, quoted Ungvár, Battle for Budapest, p. 234; see also Rees, World War II behind Closed Doors, pp. 322–9

‘70 percent of women’: quoted Ungvár, Battle for Budapest, p. 285

‘rampant, demented hatred’: quoted ibid., p. 287

‘no women and no booty’: Zolotov, Zapiski minomyotchika, pp. 187–8 p.824 ‘didn’t think that was quite’: Alexander, The Alexander Memoirs, pp. 132–3

‘This mission’: Guderian, Panzer Leader, p. 420

p.825 ‘heavy rain and wet snow’: RGVA 38680/1/1, p. 40

p.827 ‘All the roads were filled with old people’: Rabichev, Voina vsyo spishet, vospominaniya ofisera-svyazista, pp. 193–5

‘The entire contents’: Rabichev, Voina vsyo spishet, vospomnaniya ofisera-svyazista, p. 143

‘Germans abandoned everything’: letters from Efraim Genkin to his family, 22.1.45, in Altman (ed.), Sokhrani moi pisma, p. 321

p.832 Kuriloivicz in Auschwitz report by Shikin: 9.2.45, RGASPI 17/125/323, pp. 1–4

‘around four million people’: BA-B R55/616, p. 158

p.833 ‘They were cowards’: Tkachenko of SMERSh to Beria, GARF 9401/2/93, p. 324

‘Our tanks have ironed’: VCD, 23.1.45

‘Everything is on fire’: Grossman papers, RGALI 1710/3/51, p. 231

p.834 ‘All this provides’: RGASPI 17/125/314, pp. 40–5

‘We drove closer to Berlin’: VCD, 31.1.45

45: Philippines, Iwo Jima, Okinawa, Tokyo Raids

‘Rock slides were tumbled’: Ellis, The Sharp End, p. 82

‘tossing grenades as fast’: Ellis, The Sharp End, p. 83

‘So what?’: Sledge, With the Old Breed, p. 226

‘The sewage of course was appalling’: William Manchester, Goodbye Darkness: A Memoir of the Pacific War, New York, 1986, p. 359

46: Yalta, Dresden, Königsberg

‘the weakness of the democracies’: Beria, Beria, my Father, p. 105

‘On Poland Iosef Vissarionovich’: ibid., p. 106

‘We shall allow’: Beria, Beria, my Father, p. 106

Stalin and death of Roosevelt: Beria, Beria, my Father, p. 113

‘the direct outcome’: Plokhy, Yalta, p. 208

p.866 ‘Are we now to abandon’: SOAG, vol. iii, p. 112
‘Dresden was just another’: Bishop, Bomber Boys, p. 342

p.867 ‘the destruction of Dresden remains’: SOAG, vol. iii, p. 112

p.868 ‘around 18,000 and definitely’: Frederick Taylor in Der Spiegel, 10.2.08.
‘Kraft durch Furcht’: GSWW, vol. ix/1, p. 23 ‘Victory or Siberia’: TNA PREM 3 193/2, quoted ibid.

Stutthof concentration camp: RGVA 12904/1/19
‘The examination of the premises’: Shvernik to Molotov, GARF 9401/2/96, pp. 255–61
‘The shtrafroty positioned’: Yefim Abelevich Golbraikh in Drabkin (ed.), Svyashchennaya voina, p. 107

p.871 ‘I’ve only been at war’: Vladimir Tsoglin to his mother, 14.2.45, in Altman (ed.), Sokhrani moi pisma, pp. 260–75
‘When we reached the shore’: Rabichev, Voina vsyo spishet, vospominanija ofitsera-svyazista, p. 166
‘The port of Rosenberg’: Vladimir Tsoglin in Altman (ed.), Sokhrani moi pisma, pp. 260–75

p.872 ‘But there was no question of that’: Karl-Heinz Schulze, ‘Der Verlorene Haufen’, BA-MA MSg2 242

p.873 ‘Morale is low’: RGALI 1710/3/47, p. 25

47: Americans on the Elbe

p.874 ‘The Germans just don’t seem to understand’: GBP, 2/4/45
‘It is the fear of Russia’: Blumenson (ed.), The Patton Papers, vol. ii, p.22.11.44. p. 580

p.878 ‘not the logical’: Eisenhower, Crusade in Europe, p. 433

p.879 ‘minimize the general Soviet problem’: TNA PREM 3/356/6 p.880 Stalin’s meeting with Harriman and Clark Kerr: NA II RG334/Entry 309/Box 2

‘Are you aware’: I. S. Konev, Year of Victory, Moscow, 1984, p. 79; Zhukov, Vospominania i Razmishlenia, vol. iv, p. 226 ‘completely coincided’: VOV, vol. iii, p. 269

p.881 ‘much impressed’: ibid.
‘American tankists’: Krasnaya Zvezda, 11.4.45
‘conquering with cameras’: NA II 740.0011 EW/4-1345
‘In the last few days’: Fritz Hockenjos, BA-MA MSg2 4038, p. 16
‘We have gone through small towns’: GBP, 16/4/45
‘Roads are still thronged’: GBP, 2/4/45

p.882 Gardelegen massacre: GBP, 16/4/45

p.883 ‘Alex, where are you going next?’: Bolling, quoted Cornelius Ryan, The Last Battle, New York, 1995, p. 229

p.884 ‘Where in hell did you get this?’: quoted ibid., p. 261

p.885 ‘should shake hands’: NAII 740.0011 EW/4-2345
‘take a whole world’: Below, Als Hitlers Adjutant, p. 398

p.886 ‘empty phrases and promises’: report of 28.3.45, quoted Evans, The Third Reich at War, p. 714
‘Hitler became paler’: conversation with Generalleutnant a.D. Bernd Freiherr Freytag von Loringhoven, 4.10.99

Order of the Day: BA-MA RH19/XV/9b, p. 34

p.888 ‘To accustom you to death’, ‘See you in the mass grave!’: Helmut Altner, Berlin Dance of Death, Staplehurst, Kent, 2002, pp. 41 and 17
48: The Berlin Operation

p.889 ‘There will be no pity’: TsAMO 233/2374/92, p. 240
p.890 ‘Comrade Ehrenburg Oversimplifies’: Pravda, 14.4.45
‘morally and politically unstable’: TsAMO 233/2374/93, p. 454
‘unhealthy moods developed’: Serov to Beria, 19.4.45, GARF 9401/2/95, pp. 31–5, 91
p.891 ‘Tell me, are you also’: conversation with General a.D. Wust, 10.10.99 p.892 ‘Refugees hurry by’: Altner, Berlin Dance of Death, p. 54
p.893 ‘So, you’ve underestimated’: Zhukov, Vospominania i Razmyshlenia, vol. iii, p. 245
p.895 ‘Zhukov is not getting on very well’: TsAMO TsGV/70500/2, pp. 145–9 ‘undertaking a large-scale reconnaissance’: NA II RG 334/Entry 309/Box 2 p.898 ‘the sacrifice of children’: BA-MA MSg2/1096, p. 6 p.899 ‘The farmers stand at their garden fences’: Altner, Berlin Dance of Death, p. 69
p.900 ‘Due to the slowness’: TsAMO 233/2374/92, pp. 359–60
‘It’s all over, my child’: Moorhouse, Berlin at War, p. 360
For suicides in Germany at the end of the war, see Christian Goeschel, Suicide in Nazi Germany, Oxford, 2009
p.902 ‘You will see, the Russians’: quoted Gilbert, The Second World War, p. 670
‘Because the fascist clique’: TsAMO 233/2374/93, p. 414
p.904 ‘tragi-comedy’: BA-MA MSgi/976, p. 22
p.905 ‘Do you really believe’: Fritz Hockenjos, BA-MA MSg 2 4038, p. 24
p.907 ‘are very amiable – so far’: Rabe, The Good German of Nanking, pp. 218–20
‘Frau ist Frau’: conversation with Magda Wieland, 11.7.00
Rape estimates and deaths from rape and suicide: Dr Gerhard Reichling, in Helke Sander and Barbara Johr, Befreier und Befreite. Krieg, Vergewaltigungen, Kinder, Munich, 1992, pp. 54, 59
p.912 ‘Now he’s had it’: Zhukov, Vospominania i Razmyshlenia, vol. iv, pp. 269–70
‘at the head of his troops’: Trevor-Roper, The Last Days of Hitler, p. 188

49: Cities of the Dead

‘I am unable’: Efraim Genkin in Altman (ed.), Sokhrani moi pisma, p. 282

‘Victors are not judged’: Ehrenburg, Men, Years – Life, vol. v, p. 37

‘People were living with their fate’: conversation with Lothar Loewe, 9.10.2001

‘The people were not to blame’: Fritz Hockenjos, BA-MA MSg 2 4038, p. 25

‘traitor of the Motherland General Vlasov’: GLAVPURKKA, RGASPI 17/125/310

‘A merciless fight’: TsAMO 372/6570/78, pp. 30–2

‘systematic anti-Soviet talk’: RGVA 38686/1/26, p. 36

‘counter-revolutionary crimes’: GARF 9401/12/165, pp. 181–3

‘On the roads of Germany today’: GBP, 19/4/45

‘An old woman traveller’: RGALI 1710/3/51

‘Some American prisoners’: GBP, 19/4/45

Operation Unthinkable: TNA CAB 120/691; see also Hastings, Finest Years, pp. 571–7

‘The idea is of course’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, 24.5.45, pp. 693–4

‘again discussed the’: ibid., p. 695

‘a new Yalta’: Plokhy, Yalta, p. 383

‘In a few days’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, 2.7.45, 3.7.45, p. 701

‘completely shattered’: Alanbrooke, War Diaries, p. 709

‘It must be very pleasant for you’: Berezhkov, History in the Making, p. 168

‘a landing in Norway’: Beria, Beria, my Father, pp. 112–13

‘Churchill was standing by the door’: ibid., p. 118

‘Well, prime minister, I know’: quoted Hastings, Finest Years, p. 578

‘Socialist, sir’: the late A. H. Brodhurst to the author
On Titoist massacres in Slovenia, I am grateful to Keith Miles and Jože Dežman for documents on the subject; also papers from the symposium at Teinach, Austria, 30.6.95

Czech expulsions: Snyder, Bloodlands, p. 320

‘If we are American’: Anne Applebaum, New York Review of Books, 11.11.10

50: The Atomic Bombs and the Subjugation of Japan

Opium trade in Communist areas and inflation: see Chang and Halliday, Mao, pp. 337–41

‘I just tried to choose’: Enomoto Masayo in Rees, Their Darkest Hour, p. 74; on cannibalism by Japanese forces, see Tanaka, Hidden Horrors, pp. 111–14

For Unit 731 and Japanese biological warfare, see Tanaka, Hidden Horrors, pp. 135–65

‘incapacitated soldiers’: Allied Translator and Interpreter Section Southwest Pacific Area, quoted Tanaka, Hidden Horrors, p. 160

‘Do not survive in shame’: quoted Hastings, Nemesis, p. 57

‘they may expect’: Spector, Eagle against the Sun, p. 555

1,336 cases of rape: Tanaka, Hidden Horrors, p. 103

For Japanese colonists in Manchuria, see Collingham, The Taste of War, p. 62

‘From then on’: quoted Tanaka, Hidden Horrors, p. 102

‘deeply, irrevocably convinced’: Smedley, China Fights Back, p. 116

For the race to take Hong Kong, see Snow, The Fall of Hong Kong, pp. 231–62
p.943 ‘What’s a Jeep?’: Wasserstein, Secret War in Shanghai, p. 266
p.944 ‘widespread practice of cannibalism’: Tanaka, Hidden Horrors, p. 126 p.945 ‘to combine the duties’: Beria to Stalin, 22.6.45, GARF 9401/2/97, pp. 8–10 p.946 ‘died as a result of the interaction’: Snyder, Bloodlands, p. 381